"You told him you overheard it," said George.

"Yes; it was this way: He was begging and imploring me to give him a final answer. I had not openly refused him. I was afraid he would write to father and that father might be affected by it, to his injury. But the morning we left Atlanta Governor Feltore came to see me and began again to urge me to marry him. I flatly refused. He then dared to speak disrespectfully of you, and I told him just what a coward he was and how I knew it. I told him also that I knew about Mr. Truitt's pulling his ears. I told him everything I could think of and sent him away with a flush of shame on his face. It may not have been exactly ladylike, but I lost control of myself. I couldn't bear to hear him speaking lightly of you."

"God bless you, dear!" George said, and he drew her head down and kissed her on the lips. "God bless you!"

"When Mrs. Hillier returned home she found them together. Lydia sat on the edge of the bed holding his hand. On their faces lay expressions that recalled the brightest period of the older woman's youth."

"I see you didn't waste time," she said gently as she kissed Lydia on the brow.

"No; we understand each other now, Mrs. Hillier," replied the girl. "They will never give their consent, but I'm going to stick to George anyway."

"Consent?" laughed Mrs. Hillier. "Why, bless your soul, child, you folks will receive George Buckley with open arms. After you left I exploded a regular boomerang in their midst. What you reckon I told 'em? I told 'em that me an' Mr. Hillier had willed all we got on earth to George Buckley an' that he'd be about the well off young man in north Georgia at our deaths, an' yore father?"

"What are you talking about?" George exclaimed, in astonishment.

"Talkin' about the legal documents me 'n' my old man signed yesterday," responded Mrs. Hillier, with a chuckle. "We hadn't got no children of our own, an' why shouldn't we want to know what's to become of our effects after we are gone? We both love you like a son, an' we are a-goin' now to take Mrs. Lydia Buckley into our hearts, too, thank the Lord!"

"Well, that's news to me," George said. "And I don't feel worthy of it, either."

"Worthy or not, that's not for you to judge," said Mrs. Hillier; "but it certainly has made the road smooth for you with the Cranstons. Why, I never seed the like. The old major sprung up when I told 'im about the will an' stood quiverin' from head to foot."

"Why, Mrs. Hillier, he quit sayin' madam—why, I never knowed the young man had any expectations at all. I loved he was jest, you know, a sort o' bookkeeper with a small trust in the business. Ef I'd 'a' knowed he was a man o' means I never would 'a' raised so much fuss over it. Well, to make a long story short, he give in as grace-and as a story could wind—down to the old feller didn't actually chuckle when I sorter skimmed over some o' Mr. Hillier's investments in railroad stock an' the like. The world's the same all over. Most aristocrats believe in aristocracy only when it's got a cash basis. Lydia, yore pa actually feels relieved. He's had a big job, weak as he is, tryin' to marry you to a wind bag, an' now that yore goin' to do a sight better of yore own record he's powerful well satisfied. Most folks come around to what they have to meet, an' when they are made to come around to what they really want they do it with a whizz an' a slide. So, young man, you've won yore fight, an' you deserve to be congratulated."

"Well, I can't take credit for it," George laughed. "It seems to me that the whole town and half the county have been helping me out."

Leaving the lovers together, Mrs. Hillier went downstairs.

"I thought at first," she mused, "that I'd not let Mrs. Dugan in on this, but I

He reached out and drew her hands down.

mought as well. That's about all the pleasure the lone woman gets out o' life, an' she's entitled to this morsel. Yes, I'll run over an' tell 'er. The truth is, I'm dyin' to tell somebody, an' it'd be a relief to see 'er roll 'er eyes an' gasp. That she is now, makin' a break for the fence. She seed me with my silk on an' knows some'n's in the wind. Hold on, Mrs. Dugan, raising her voice, 'don't break yore neck—I'm a-comin'—I'm a-comin', as fast as I kin!"

BIG FLEET SAILS

Russia Sends Naval Reinforcements to the Far East.

NEW TARGETS FOR TOGO

Speculation Has It That Bojstevsky's Fleet Will Never Get Farther Than Suez.Or If It Reaches Port Arthur It Will Simply Add to Japan's Naval Successes.

What little late news has been received from the Manchurian theater of war indicates the almost entire suspension of active operations by both Russians and Japanese. The last dispatch from Mukden was filed by a press correspondent Sunday evening. It is said that all was quiet in that region, and the understanding was that the main force of the Japanese had retired to Yentai, on the railroad, about ten miles northeast of Liao Yang. Kuropatkin briefly reports that there was no fighting Saturday except small patrol encounters. A dispatch received in London from St. Petersburg gives a report that Viceroy Alexieff has resigned. The Baltic fleet, rumors regarding which have from time to time occupied the press reports, sailed Sunday from Cronstadt, and it is officially announced in St. Petersburg that its destination is the far East. St. Petersburg dispatches indicate active preparations to greatly increase the Russian fighting force. The story from Port Arthur is one of bombardments.

A LULL IN PROCEEDINGS

London Observers Predict a Suspension of Operations.
Cronstadt, Sept. 12.—The Baltic fleet, under command of Vice Admiral

VICE ADMIRAL BOJSTEVSKY.

Bojstevsky, sailed Sunday afternoon. The destination of the fleet is the far East.

Mukden, Sept. 12.—All is quiet in this region. It is understood that the main force of Japanese has retired to Yentai. A solemn service was held here Sunday for the repose of the souls of those killed in action. It was attended by the entire staff and garrison. A few distant shots were heard during the ceremony, but this did not disturb the solemnity of the service. The weather is threatening and more rain is expected.

London, Sept. 12.—All of today's newspapers agree in the belief that a somewhat prolonged lull in the operations of the Japanese and Russian forces around Mukden will ensue.

Detailed accounts of the battle of Liao Yang, especially that of the Associated Press, confirm the general belief that the Japanese have not paid an excessive price for their successes and that they were balked in achieving another Sedan by General Kuropatkin's generalship.

The situation at Port Arthur especially in view of the sailing from Cronstadt of the Baltic fleet receives renewed attention in the newspapers. Spencer Wilkinson, in the Morning Post, says it depends entirely on how long Port Arthur can hold out, whether the Baltic fleet will be of any effect. The general tendency of the London morning newspapers, however, is to the belief that Port Arthur will soon be worn out by the tenacious attacks of the Japanese, while little importance is attached to the sailing of the Baltic fleet. The Standard declares that the fleet will never get beyond Suez, but says if by any conceivable chance it should reach Chinese waters it would only give Togo fresh opportunities for adding to his category of successes.

CONTINUED FIGHTING

Situation at Port Arthur Shows Little Change.

Chefoo, Sept. 12.—According to the latest news received here from Port Arthur the Russians on Sept. 4 shelled the Japanese covered trenches in front of Palichuang and destroyed them.

One small Russian landing party succeeded in creeping close to the Japanese intrenchments on Corner mountain, but the barking dogs gave the alarm and prevented a further advance. Japanese reserves poured into the intrenchment and opened fire on the Russians, but a shell from a Russian battery landed in the trenches and killed many of the Japanese soldiers and the remainder retired. This enabled the Russians to occupy the trench until dawn.

The Port Arthur Novikrai in a recent issue declares that a Japanese colonel has been executed because he failed to occupy a certain position on Corner hill within a specified time. In its issue of Sept. 2 the same paper says that a Japanese torpedo boat struck a mine fourteen miles southeast of the harbor and sank, and that on the day this occurred the Japanese cruiser Itsu Kushima also was damaged by a floating mine. It is said that the Japanese have planned a general attack on the forts tomorrow.

Reserves Called For.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—The emperor has called to arms the reserve troops in twenty-two circuits of the governments of Kherzon, Bessarabia, Elatorinoslav and Taurid, belonging to the military district of Odessa, and also one category of reserve officers throughout the empire.

Jap Losses at Liao Yang.

Washington, Sept. 12.—A dispatch from Tokyo to the Japanese legation here places the total casualties on the Japanese side at the battle of Liao Yang at 17,539 officers and men killed and wounded. The numbers of officers killed was 136, and the number wounded 464.

Alexieff Has Resigned.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—It is believed that Viceroy Alexieff, in view of the paramount military exigencies in the far East, has placed his resignation in the hands of the emperor, but no decision with regard to it has yet been made.

BARBAROUS NATIVES

Attack a Catholic Mission and Massacre Inmates.

Brisbane, Queensland, Sept. 12.—News has been received from German New Guinea, saying that natives attacked the Catholic mission and murdered Fathers Raschen and Ruttar, Brothers Bley, Plarschaert and Schellkens, and Sisters Sofia, Agatha, Annie, Agnes and Angelita.

Thirty-six natives were captured and sixteen of them were executed for the crime.

The design of the natives was to murder all the whites, but this was frustrated.

THE DAY IS FIXED

Germany's Crown Prince Will Have a Splendid Wedding.

Berlin, Sept. 12.—It is reported that March 22 next has been selected for the date of the marriage of the Duchess Cecilia of Meklenburg-Schwerin to Crown Prince Frederick William. The nuptials will be celebrated with unprecedented splendor, as he will be the first Hohenzollern to marry as crown prince of the German empire.

Evident Case of Suicide.

Washington, Sept. 12.—The dead body of David P. Leibold, the superintendent of the dead letter office, was found last night by one of the watchmen who was making his rounds just after midnight. Evidently it was a case of suicide, for there was a bullet hole in the right temple and a pistol lay on the floor beside him. Mr. Leibold was about sixty years of age. He was a native of Indiana, from which state he was appointed to the postoffice department.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

The Russian Baltic fleet has sailed for the far east.

It is reported that the Russian army is moving northward from Mukden.

President Roosevelt has issued his formal letter of acceptance of the nomination given him by the Chicago convention.

Natives of German New Guinea murdered eleven Catholic missionaries. Sixteen natives were executed for the crime.

At Harrisburg, Pa. Brain Hoffman, aged 19 years received such serious internal injuries in a game of football that death resulted.

A Canadian Pacific Express train was held up near Winnipeg by four masked men, who blew open the safe and carried off $300.

The powers of the world, signatory to the Hague convention, will be asked by the Inter-parliamentary union at its twelfth conference to intervene in the Russo-Japanese war.

Adequate dispatches tell the story of the five days' fighting before Liao Yang and confirm the opinion that it was one of the greatest battles of modern times.

CAMPAIGN IS OPEN

With Issuance of Roosevelt's Letter of Acceptance Things Liven Up.

A CALL FOR ACTIVITY

State Organizations Are Urged to Inject a Little More Ginger Into the Campaign.It Is Felt, However, That a Lack of Political Hysterics Is Really a Blessing.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—With the issuance of President Roosevelt's letter of acceptance today the Republican national campaign may be considered as formally open. It now depends upon the various state organizations to arrange for their meetings and the national committee will assign the speakers who are to do the work.

Partly in furtherance of this, a party of state chairmen are being called in to see National Chairman Cortelyou, who has been in Chicago for the past week. State openings follow rapidly on the issuance of the president's letter. Michigan, Washington and Montana will begin on Sept. 15; Nebraska and West Virginia on Sept. 17; Indiana and Iowa on Sept. 20; Pennsylvania on Sept. 21; Minnesota on Sept. 24, and Ohio on Oct. 1. In Missouri and Kansas work has already begun.

A feeling of indifference has been a cause of alarm for many Western politicians, and it has not been confined to those of any one party. Men who do not rank with the workers in any party have been impressed with the fact that the average man is not concerned with politics this year. This has been noted as one of the peculiar features of the work. Various reasons have been assigned and organization bodies have been censured for not stirring up interest.

In view of these facts the statement from the Western headquarters that such conditions are in no way injurious, but probably beneficial becomes interesting. Western Republican managers are of the opinion that the lack of political hysteria is appreciated to be a blessing and that it does not indicate carelessness.

Business men, they explained, are satisfied with a campaign which does not disturb business conditions.

TALKING IT OVER

Democrats Feel the Need of Creating an "Interest."

New York, Sept. 12.—The visit to New York of Henry G. Davis, the Democratic nominee for vice president, at this time will be made the occasion of a conference of Democratic leaders upon the issues of the campaign. Senator Gorman of Maryland arrived here today, and William F. Sheehan, chairman of the national executive committee, and Cord Meyer, chairman of the state committee, returned from their visit to Esopus, where they have conferred with Judge Parker. It was announced at the time of the appointment of the executive committee that Senator Gorman would be in close touch with the Democratic campaign and that the managers would have the benefit of his advice and counsel. It is expected that the conference of Democratic leaders will be general and that all plans of the campaign will be discussed—the work that has been done as well as the proposed work of the future. There has been a demand from some prominent Democrats that the active work should be commenced at once and the people aroused to the usual interest of a presidential canvass. It is expected that this matter is one of the questions that will be taken up during the conference. It has not yet been determined that Mr. Davis will visit Judge Parker at this time. It was not his intention to go to Esopus when he came to New York, but in case Judge Parker desires to consult with him Mr. Davis will go to Roseton.

Chairman Taggart called on Mr. Davis at the Fifth Avenue hotel Sunday, but the political situation was not discussed at any length. Mr. Taggart will leave for the West Wednesday and will spend a day at French Lick Springs in Indiana and several days at Indianapolis and Chicago. While there he will take up the subject of Western headquarters. The subject will be discussed at the coming conference, but it is not expected that definite announcement will be made until Mr. Taggart returns.

Lightning's Victims.

Marshall, Ill., Sept. 12.—Leo and Hammond Burkholder were killed by lightning which struck a barn in which they had taken shelter from a storm Sunday afternoon. The barn was burned and the bodies of the boys severely charred before they were rescued. Four other boys who went into the barn to escape the storm were severely shocked, but were able to escape from the burning building.

Four Men Held Up Train.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 12.—A Canadian Pacific railway westbound transcontinental express was held up by four masked men four and a half miles west of Mission Junction. At the point of revolvers the express messenger was compelled to hand over the valuables. The safe was dynamited and $6,000 secured. The robbers escaped.

PUT TO ROUT

Old General Apathy No Longer Holds the Field in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Sept. 12.—At the Republican state committee rooms the assertion was made today that old "General Apathy," who has been in supreme command of the campaign up to the present, is being put to rout on their side. It has not been concealed that the managers of the campaign have been distressed by their inability to stir up enthusiasm, but they believe now that there will be no further cause for complaint. Word has been received that J. Frank Hanly, nominee for governor, Congressman James E. Watson and other speakers are having great meetings for this time of year. Everywhere it is said they are greeted with much interest and enthusiasm. The size of the meetings has caused a smile to play about the faces of Chairman Goodrich, Secretary Sims and C. C. Lyons of the speakers' bureau, for several days. They are now hopeful that it won't be very difficult to get the people stirred up so that a large vote will be out on election day. The Republicans will probably have nearly twice as many speakers in the field this week as last.

Now that the campaign is on the party leaders are figuring closely on everything that may have a bearing on the result. The negro vote, for instance, is beginning to receive much attention. As usual the Republicans will probably get 95 per cent of it in spite of everything the Democrats can do to prevent it. The negro vote is becoming very costly, however, to the party that lands it, for the vote selling has been greatly encouraged among the colored men. At the last national election there were between 18,000 and 22,000 negro voters. Almost enough to hold the balance of power. Some of the party leaders who have made an investigation said today that the negro vote is 5,000 or 6,000 larger than four years ago, which is so much better for the Republican ticket. The natural increase of negroes has been heavy, and in addition the state has been a mecca for Southern negroes for some time, so it is not surprising that they are more numerous. That they are a factor to be reckoned with in politics is generally admitted, and it is likewise admitted that any increase among them is helpful to the Republican ticket.

Secretary John Medert of the fusion Populists and his associates were busily engaged today completing arrangements for the state convention here Thursday. None of them would venture an opinion as to what will be done, but they seem confident that the middle-of-the-road convention held here several days ago will be totally eclipsed in attendance and enthusiasm. It seems, however, that about the sum total of the campaign of the Populists up to the present is the efforts of the leaders of the rival clans to secure control. A few months ago each was holding out the olive branch, and it was supposed that they would get together and make an effort to bring the party up to the prominence it enjoyed three campaigns ago, when it polled a big vote and was a balance of power. There is a possibility of the action of the middle-of-the-road nominations being endorsed, but neither of the old parties are expecting much opposition from the Pops under the circumstances.

The continued absence of National Chairman Taggart from Indianapolis has developed a new local political "boss," one Joseph E. Bell, who has been one of Taggart's lieutenants for several years. Joe Fanning and Bell were Taggart's right bowlers here, and Taggart thought so much of Fanning that he took him to New York to help him manage the national campaign. So Bell is the natural legate of the machine, and he is looking after its interests right well. He has practically dictated every local nomination made here this year. There has not been an open protest, which would argue that Bell is a smoother hand than either Taggart or Fanning, for there was frequent complaint against them. It may be due, however, to the fact that the Democrats here are more harmonious than they have been in any other year of Taggart's reign.

Identified Her Assailant.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Sept. 12.—William Staple, a negro who was arrested in Rochester, Ind., about a week ago charged with having robbed and assaulted Mrs. Jacob Waddle while the latter was on the way to her son's house from the railway station, has been identified by the woman. After the identification was made the fact became public that the negro confessed to having robbed the woman on the night of the alleged assault, but said that he did not harm her.

A Bride's Suicide.

Indianapolis, Sept. 12.—Although she was married only a few weeks ago and seemed much devoted to her husband, Mrs. Georgia Easter, aged thirty-three, the wife of Robert Easter, an employe at the American Foundry company, is dead at her home, a suicide from poison. Before her death Mrs. Easter told a neighbor that she had taken the poison as her mother had forsaken her because she had married a Protestant.

Fatal Mine Accident.

Vincennes, Ind., Sept. 12.—Following a heavy blast in the Prospect coal mine, one side of the mine caved in and almost completely buried Samuel Price. He had four ribs broken, back hurt, skull fractured and internal injuries. Physicians say he cannot recover. Price suffered a similar accident a short time ago.

World's Fair Attendance.

St. Louis, Sept. 12.—The attendance at the World's Fair during the past week broke all records since the opening. There were 874,954 admissions, being almost 100,000 more than on any previous week. Labor Day had an attendance of 209,622, the largest single day's attendance of the exposition. Altogether a total of 9,994,510 admissions have been recorded since the opening of the exposition.

A River Tragedy.

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—The Delaware steamer Columbia, on its way from this city to Bristol, Pa., last night crashed into a steam launch about ten miles north of here, grinding it to pieces and causing the drowning of eight of the dozen occupants of the small boat. All of the party were Philadelphians.

A DISAPPOINTED Democrat, one who followed Bryan through two campaigns and believed his doctrine, says to the REPUBLICAN that "Parker is not running on the Democratic platform; he is running on a telegram."

THE Columbus Times, which has been an independent morning paper for the past thirteen years, has changed to an evening paper and becomes democratic in politics. J. N. Marsh has been the proprietor of the Times since it was started and has made the paper a success as a morning independent paper.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT's letter of acceptance was given to the public today. It should be read by every voter in the United States. He sets forth the firm and well established principles and convictions of the Republican party in clear, forcible and dignified language. Read this letter and contrast with the "improvised convictions" of the Democratic party.

Trouble Over Settlement.

James E. Humes, of this city, who has been located at Danville, Kentucky and doing business there on commission for the John Church Piano Company had some differences over a settlement which led to his arrest at Cincinnati Friday. The piano company claims that Humes owes them $225 and that he declines to make settlement. But on the other hand Humes claims that the piano company owes him about $260 balance on one cash sale which he says they decline to pay over to him. Besides this he claims that the company owes him a couple of hundred more in contingent commissions. So it would seem that the trouble arises over a failure to get together on a settlement. Humes is at his home here now.

Business Changes.

The firm of E. Daly & Berdon, the barbers has been dissolved, Berdon having sold out to E. Daly who will conduct the business at the same stand.

Mr. Berdon has purchased the barber shop of G. F. Pomeroy on Second street and took charge today. Mr. Pomeroy will give his attention to other business. These men are all excellent gentlemen and the REPUBLICAN wishes them their full measure of success.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back For an Old One—How it is Done in Seymour.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stop its agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new strong one. Follow the example of this Seymour citizen.

M. H. Ahlbrand, of south Walnut street, implement and machine salesman says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy. I had a great deal of lameness in my back off and on for years. In the winter of 1898 my back was very bad and I went to Milhous' drug store and procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. I never used any medicine so prompt in relieving me. The treatment strengthened my kidneys and relieved the backache, besides toning up my general health. Since taking Doan's Kidney Pills I have never felt better in my life. My wife also suffered from backache and on taking this preparation she was as great benefit as I."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Opening of Schools.

The city schools opened this morning with an increased attendance over the first day last year. Some of the rooms are already crowded and many pupils are yet to enter.

It was a very busy day for Superintendent Montgomery and the teachers. After the schools were opened this morning and the work outlined, the pupils already classified were given a list of books they need and then adjournment was taken until afternoon. They made a rush on the book-stores then and from that on these establishments have been kept busy.

There were recitations in all the departments this afternoon.

All Standard patterns are now 10 and 15 cents, none higher.

WILD FLOWERS.

It Is Time American Women Took Measures to Preserve Them.

Just now I wanted to get some information about the simplest wild flower that grows, the anemone. I looked in a standard botany. No such name as anemone. Next an immense dictionary was consulted. It revealed that the anemone belonged to the crowfoot family. Back again to the text book of botany. No mention of crowfoot. Back once more to the great dictionary, this time under "crowfoot." There I found the crowfoot family was of the genus "ranunculus." The third time the school botany, in search of ranunculus. Here it is: "Ranunculus, herbaceous plants, with usually palmately or ternately lobed leaves without stipules. Calyx of three to six, usually five, distinct sepals." What a glorious science is botany, to be sure!

Who cares a rap whether the exquisite, dainty anemone's leaves have "stipules," or anything about the "sepals" of its calyx? Botany, as taught in ordinary works on this subject, makes the student a mere ruthless dissector of flowers, nothing more.

If there had been anything in scientific botany to make people admire and cherish flowers, the exquisite wild blossoms scattered like gems over our whole country would not be, as they now are, in danger of total extinction. The trailing arbutus, glory of spring and shedder of fragrance throughout all the eastern portion of this Union, is vanishing so fast that unless we begin to cultivate it extensively it will be known only to the memory of old people. Ruthless hands have grabbed it out of the ground, roots and all, in order to sell it, without a thought that it could not grow again.

The queenly, nodding red and yellow columbine that used to make glorious the shaded rocks on hillsides—where is it now? The bright green, cheery Jack-in-the-pulpit, which tells us when the first breath of spring is here; the anemone, the gentian, the wild lady's slipper, the Dutchman's breeches, the purple flags, the marshmallow, the buttercup, the wild azalea and scores of others—have at them with the rage of destruction! Pluck every blossom off their helpless stems. Leave not one to reseed the ground. Carry these tender flowers home, withering in your hot, unwholesome hand as you go, and then cast them into the ash barrel! Actually the bandits would tear up even the resplendent dogwood tree by the roots and carry it away if they could only dig it out. As it is, the dogwoods in the vicinity of towns and cities will all be destroyed in a few years because of the annual murderous mutilation to which they are subjected.

It is sure if the present wholesale destruction of our American native wild flowers continues the slaughter must soon cease for want of victims, particularly in case of certain varieties. And the loss of them can never be made up to us by all the florist's art.

Made known to all, therefore, should be the existence of the Wild Flower Preservation Society of America. At the instigation of woman it was started, and women as mothers, and especially as teachers, can best conduct its good work. Two wealthy ladies, sisters, Misses Caroline and Olivia Phelps-Stokes, donated a considerable fund for the culture of wild flowers in the vicinity of New York. The interest of the fund is to be spent by Professor Britton, director in chief of the New York Botanical garden. The money will be used in collecting and propagating wild flowers in the grounds of the Botanical garden. Professor Britton's chief assistant is his wife, who is devoted to her task.

Local chapters or societies will be formed in various parts of the country among public spirited persons who are awakened in this matter. No doubt Professor or Mrs. Britton, at the Botanical garden, borough of the Bronx, New York city, will give information on how to start a wild flower society, also what measures to take for their preservation.

Wherever in this land a botanical garden exists, one of its chief aims should be to hold fast to the wild flowers thereabout. Wealthy private citizens can also have wild flower gardens in their grounds. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont already has one at her place near Hempstead, N. Y.

All our garden flowers, of course, were originally wild ones. By culture, crossing and fertile soil the exquisite creations we know have been developed. It will be easy for women in the country to make at their leisure a collection of the growing wild flowers in their neighborhood and plant them in the home garden. It will be work that will delight the children too. A wild flower society in every farm neighborhood would have a refining, educative influence.

THE BEST COLLEGE

Is That Which Furnishes the Completest Men.

DR. HUGHES ON HIGHER EDUCATION

Its Lofty Purpose Should Be to Fit Men to Further the Legitimate Interests of the Race and Push Those Interests to the Supreme Goal.

[Special Correspondence.]

Greencastle, Ind., Sept. 12.—Within a few days this old college town will take on new life with the return of eight hundred students to the halls of DePauw University, an institution which for three-quarters of a century has been a training ground for the youth of the middle west, and during that period has given to the work of the world many men and women who have become eminent in their chosen fields of endeavor. Some recently compiled statistics show that of the graduates of this typical Western institution who received their diplomas up to 1900, two have become governors of states, two lieutenant governors, two cabinet officers, five foreign ministers, five attaches and consuls, seven United States senators, ten members of the house of representatives, ten state officers, twenty-one state senators, twenty-three federal and state supreme judges, fifty-nine state representatives, and seventy-seven officers in the army and navy; fifty-one college professors, 129 college professors, and 104 city and county superintendents. It is interesting to know that of the graduates of DePauw 654 have become teachers, 510 lawyers, 339 ministers and missionaries, 147 physicians, 102 newspaper men, 52 authors.

It is not strange that the authorities of DePauw have chosen as a motto: "The test of an institution of learning is the man it produces." Judged by this standard DePauw University is entitled to rank high among the colleges and universities of the country. As to President Hughes.

DePauw University is fortunate in having enlisted the services as president of Edwin Holt Hughes, formerly of Malden, Mass., one of the most enlightened and progressive educational leaders of the country, and the college year is inaugurated under auspices unusually favorable because of his accession as chief executive. The faculty for the coming year has been materially strengthened and the year's work is undertaken under auspices unusually favorable.

To your correspondent President Hughes gives an interesting interview wherein he outlines his views of the purpose of the college, which may be taken as an expression of the ideals he is seeking to realize at DePauw:

"The college should stand," says President Hughes, "as a preparing agent between the theory and the practice of life. To make the statement more human and personal, a college should carry the power that resides in young people out to meet the opportunities that wait in the world. With these general conceptions all men would agree. The skeptic might query whether our average college was meeting this ideal, but he would not deny that the proper aim of a higher institution is to unite the theoretic and the practical world.

The Crux in the Problem.

"The crux in the whole problem comes when methods are discussed. The strict advocates of the old classical learning would not have admitted that the ancient languages were merely the luxuries and the trimmings of the intellectual life. They would rather have claimed that the classical studies were the servants of a genuine practicalness. Undoubtedly the old-fashioned courses were often too inflexible. Studies were sometimes pressed upon students quite without regard to tastes and aptitudes. It is not to be wondered that a reaction came, and that now the passing fancy of the matriculate often selects the easy subjects and pays small heed to the matter of all-round development. But the point now urged is, that the defender of the old fixed curriculum and the advocate of the new system of electives both claim that their plans made men more capable of dealing with the practical forces of the real world.

"We need not enter into this debate.

The promoter of elective studies has had a large day; he has had even a decade of victory. Nor does any well-informed educator believe that the regime of inflexible courses will ever be fully reinstated. There are, however, some signs and influences that portend a slight reaction. Indiana has many colleges. The Cecil Rhodes scholarship calls for a careful training in both Latin and Greek. It is a significant thing that only three Indiana students presented themselves for the Rhodes examinations in April last, and one of these came from an institution beyond the state. That only two young men appeared from all our Indiana colleges to try the tests for a scholarship netting $1,500 a year shows how very few of our present day students are studying two ancient languages. It is interesting to figure whether the Rhodes scholarship will not tend to revive somewhat the study of the ancient classics. Oxford stands for the old way. Perhaps Cecil Rhodes will prove to be the unwitting reviver of the dead languages, especially of Greek, in many of our institutions.

Its Duty to Students.

"But quite apart from this mooted matter—what should a college do for its students? It being allowed that its function is to prepare men for real life, what more detailed demands may we make of each higher institution of learning? Since life should be symmetrical, preparation for life should be likewise symmetrical. This means that a college should give heed to all normal types of human living.

"Under this conception the college has a duty with reference to the physical development of its students. The discussion of certain athletics is perennial, but the admission of the beneficial character of gymnastics should be just as perennial. He who implies that a student should pass from study to recitation and from recitation to study again, and that college life should follow this regular round alone, is a maker of the paths of death. The body has its rights, and these rights must be recognized in any proper plan of college life.

Purpose of College Training.

"Inasmuch as the very idea of a college presumes that it has a vital relation to the mental life, it may justly be demanded that an institution shall train minds into accuracy and power—into accuracy because otherwise power may serve falsehood; into power, because otherwise accuracy may prove the mere vanity of exactness. Probably none will deny that the function of the true college, as somewhat distinguished from the university, is to give the mental life an approach to completeness. It is plain that specialism may become too special. The ideal is stated in the sentence, a man should know something of everything and everything of something.

"This implies that a college should provide both for generalism and specialism. The generalism will save the specialism from narrowness; and the specialism will save the generalism from indefiniteness. Men sometimes say that intellectual development comes from studying rather than from a study, and that the plea for the old curriculum failed to take note of this fact. There is a truth here. And yet it omits an important item. Over-specialism may train the mental faculties; but over-specialism cannot open the various avenues through which the mind moves out toward life and through which life moves in upon the mind.

As to the Social Side.

"Then also our higher institutions should make men strong on the social side. This statement does not relate to the frills and bows of etiquette; though in the sense of social formality the college is not without a duty. The monastic idea has passed; the joys of fellowship should have a right of way; the graces of sociability should be cultivated. If the world will not be patient with the college graduate who is mainly a dandy, neither should it be patient with him who is mainly a boor.

But when 'social' is used as relating to human fellowships and their influence, the colleges have a large field. Often they set lives in permanent directions. Garfield's statement about the log, with himself on one end and Mark Hopkins on the other, as constituting a college, is overdone. Yet it holds a truth. The first qualification of a teacher is personality; without that mysterious equipment his technical lore lacks a sufficient channel and remains clogged up within his own nature. Teachers there are who pour power into youth. Happy the young men and the young women who come under their instructions!

"And society has a right to ask that the college shall fill students with noble ideals of public service. There is something defective in the work of any institution when it fails to send men out as strong servants of the state and nation. The public in general and the prospective student in particular, should pay heed to a college's relation to public service. It was right that Hiram college should be exalted in popular esteem by Garfield's eminent work! It was right that Miami should gain effective advertisement from the career of Benjamin Harrison! Such cases show that our colleges may send men into the wider social relations with larger power.

What shall the college do for religious life? The answer to this question will necessarily depend upon the personal viewpoint. If we believe that religion is one of the essential forces and influences of human life, we are surely driven to affirm that the college should in some way minister to the religious faculty. This claim is receiving increasing recognition. The school that utterly banishes God will in the end banish itself."

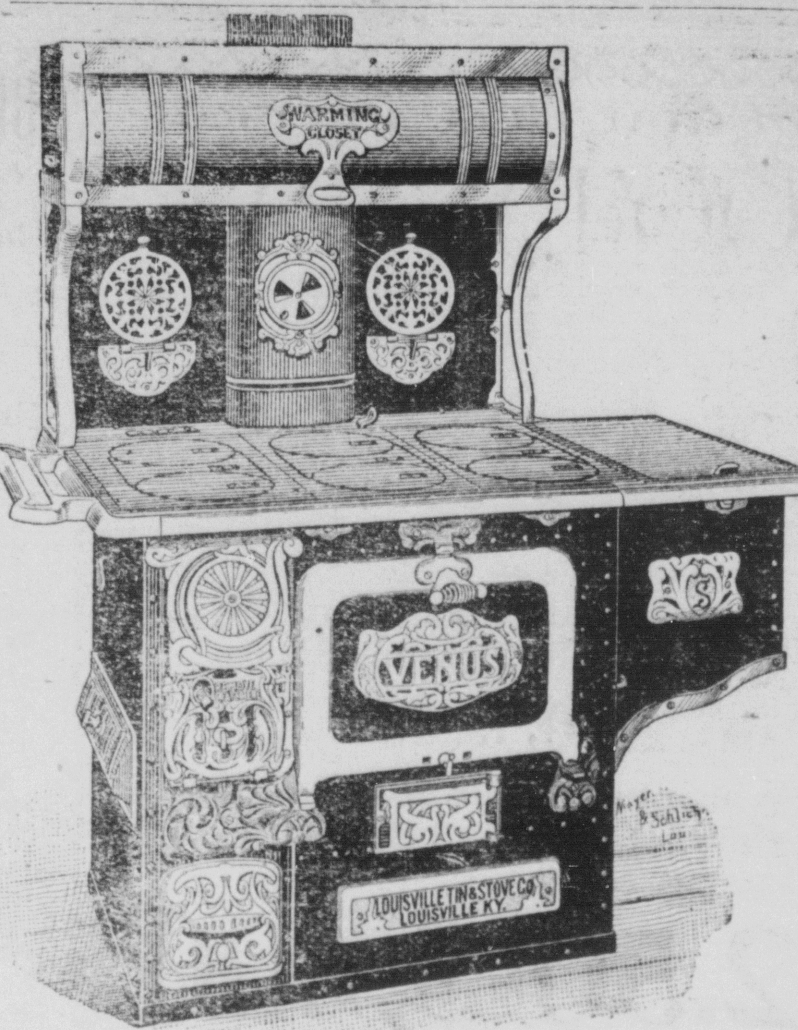

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved," writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for coughs, colds and all lung diseases. Guaranteed by W. F. Peter Drug Co. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

BEER AND BONE DUST.
Jonesville has had another disturbance. As the story goes a man from Shelbyville had sold two car loads of bone dust and made delivery of the goods the past week. He was closing up his accounts Friday and giving a beer check with each settlement receipt which seemed to have made both the beer and bone dust business good. There was considerable carousing going on that evening, and while John Ford, who had previously owned the saloon, but had sold it to a man named Dickman, had gone to his supper, some unknown person fired a charge through the door from a shot gun. Some trouble then followed between Ford and James Smallwood, which resulted in an affidavit being filed against Ford for assault and battery, to which he pleaded guilty and was fined. There is hardly a man, woman or child in America who has not heard of "S. S. S. for the blood." It is a standard remedy, a specific for all blood troubles and unequalled as a general tonic and appetizer. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable, the herbs and roots of which it is composed are selected for their alterative and tonic properties, making it the ideal remedy for all blood and skin diseases, as it not only purifies, enriches and invigorates the blood, but at the same time tones up the tired nerves and gives strength and vigor to the entire system.

For Chronic Sores and Ulcers, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Blood Poison, Malaria, Anæmia, Scrofula, Eczema, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Tetters, Acne and such other diseases as are due to a polluted or impoverished condition of the blood, nothing acts so promptly and effectually as S. S. S. It counteracts and eradicates the germs and poisons; cleanses the system of all unhealthy accumulations and soon restores the patient to health. New Technical School Can Not Supply Demand of Pupils.

READY FOR THE OPENING

Great School Which Occupies Site of Old Arsenal At Indianapolis Is An Assured Success.

Already More Than Two Hundred Applicants Have Been Turned Away for Lack of Room.

Indianapolis, Sept. 12.—More than 200 applications for admission to the Winona Technical Institute, occupying the site of the old United States arsenal, have been refused on account of the lack of accommodations. As this is the first year of the school provisions were only made to accommodate 100 students. All is now in readiness for the opening of the school, which will take place on Wednesday, Sept. 21. The fourteen buildings which were on the arsenal grounds at the time of the purchase have all been remodeled and make fine school buildings. Courses in the following trades will be opened to students at the commencement of the school year: Carpentry, bricklaying and masonry, plastering, blacksmithing, house and sign painting, ornamental painting, plumbing, steam and hot water fitting and electrical working. Each student will select one of the trades named and in addition he will be required to take mechanical and free-hand drawing, which in a general way bears upon his particular trade. Dr. Sol C. Dickey, president of the school, has just decided upon a new plan, which will greatly enlarge the scope of the institution. A new department will be opened every two months during the year. The officers and directors of the school are more than delighted with the progress that is being made and predict even a greater future for the institution than was first anticipated.

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Diseased kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.

If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.

G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."
